

Dear Friend,

The PRIDEnet team wants to thank everyone who has stopped by to greet us at a tabling event, workshop, or presentation. We have six confirmed events coming up and hope that you will stop by and bring a friend to find out more about The PRIDE Study and All of Us LGBTQ+. We also have a virtual event coming up on June 6, 4:30-5:45pm PT titled Online Writing Workshop for Healing and Well-Being. We hope you can join us for some self-care given all that is going on in the world today. Many are still trying to break our community, but we are resilient and we will continue to help and support each other.

Our community's strength was reflected during our inaugural 2-day PRIDEnet Researcher Basecamp from March 23-24. 17 community-based and early-career academic researchers traveled from across the country to learn more about the All of Us Researcher Workbench and share their current research focuses. Bonds were created and new ideas emerged to make sure LGBTQ+ people are a part of health research.

In other great news, our team continues to grow! We will be welcoming a new LGBTQ+ Communications Coordinator position and 2 LGBTQ+ Clinical Research Coordinators in the next few weeks. Make sure to follow our social media channels for updates. Thank you for your continued support of LGBTQ+ health.

Together In Pride,

Ana Rescate, MBA

Making Youth a Part of All of Us Research Program

Our health doesn't just reveal itself when we turn 18, the age you currently have to be to join the All of Us Research Program. Our childhood and teenage years shape our adulthood. Our adult well-being comes from learned habits, opportunities, and, of course, our genes.

What can we learn about health and health care from our earlier years? All of Us is working to find out. We plan to include infants, children, and adolescents in the next year or two. This will expand what is already one of the largest, most diverse groups of research participants ever. It's another step toward truly including all of us.

All of Us has named Sara Van Driest, M.D., Ph.D., as its Director of Pediatrics to lead the effort to bring children from birth to age 18 into the program.

Join All of Us LGBTQ+.

All of Us LGBTQ+ is part of a unique mix of organizations, researchers, health care professionals, technology experts, community partners, and participants. We often share stories from other community partners and/or the All of Us Research Program's main page.

- Publication #35: LGBTQ+ People and Experiences of Social and Community Support in 12-Step Programs

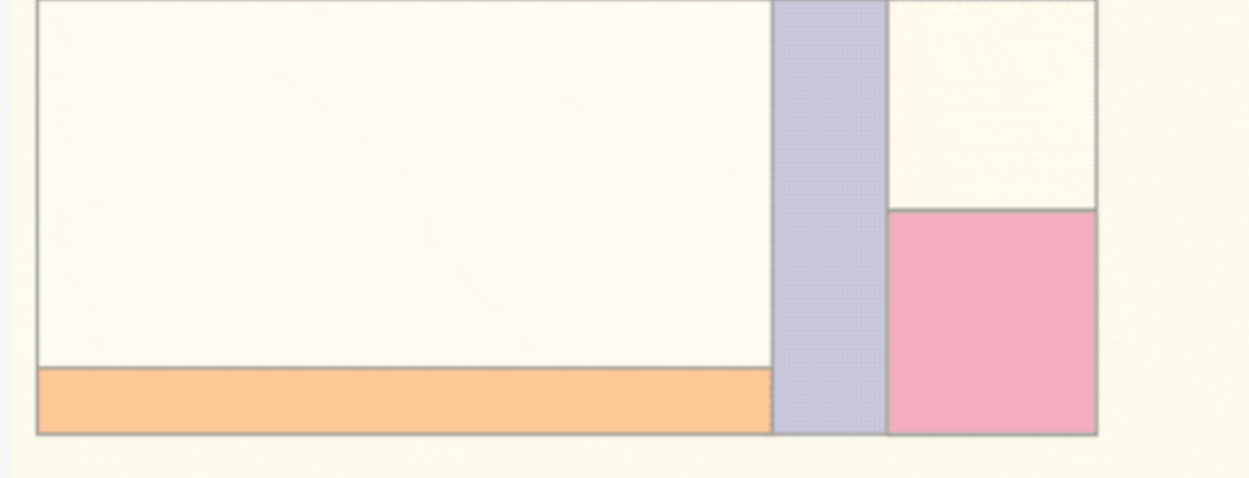

Even though past research has found that people, generally, benefit from the community and social support they receive in 12-Step programs, this is one of the first studies that has specifically considered how LGBTQ+ people experience community and social support in 12-Step programs.

- Publication #36: An Analysis of Resources that Promote Strengths in LGBTQIA+ Communities

This is one of the first studies that used an approach of focusing on the strengths of LGBTQIA+ communities, used a larger sample size of participants, and had diverse representation of LGBTQIA+ people across race/ethnicity, gender identity, sexual orientation, age, and geographic location.
